Hongkons, June, 15th, 1883.

THE Government have marked their sense of the urgency of the Order and Cleanliness Ordinance by proclaiming it at once without the Queen. Sanitary matters have for years past, during the late Administration, been allowed to drift without any attempt to promote the cleanliness of the Colony. Since, however, Mr. Chadwick made his report, the Authorities have displayed every desire possible. The improvements in the system of drainage must necessarily be deferred for some-time, but the task of regulating the disposal of rubbish and offensive matter, the closing up of cesspools or drains, the keeping of pigs, goats, or cattle, and other matters, can be undertaken, and has accordingly been grappled with. Causeway Hay has gradually for the past twelve months Green wich, and has now returned with the Prince objected to the defendant dealing with or realisbeen growing more and more unbearable. A host of sampans and small boats—some in very dilapidated condition-are permanently located there, the inhabitants of many being employed on shore. The Bay, which is slowly silting up, becomes shallower each year, and when the tide goes out a vast expanse of the foulest mud is left exposed, which, under the influence of a tropical sun, gives forth the most unwholesome vapours. It is simply marvellous that this reeking cesspool, for it is little better, the tides as a rule only creeping in, has not caused the outbreak of an epidemic long ago. The regulation above quoted, the tenant to purchase farms by means of state if properly enforced, will certainly go far to work a cure, but it will doubtless excite some apposition from those marine equatters who believether have acquired a vested right to the particular position of which they have for so long held undisturbed possession. It would, however, we think, be worth while for the Government to consider whether it would not be advisable, at some early date, to reclaim that portion of Causeway Bay extending out as far as the old causeway. This is exceedingly shallow, and at low tides is a mere stretch of slimy mud. The cost of reclamstion would not be great and it would provide valuable sites both for Chinese houses and industrial undertakings. The outer portion of the Bay would still be available for a harbour of refuge and might be dredged if necessary. It would then be comparatively easy to prevent the Bay being made a fever bed, while a fine stretch of ground would be

A FENIAN BOARE. HALIFAX. 7th May. Rumours are current of another letter received by Lieutenant-Governor Archibald, warning him of the expected visit to Halifax of two suspicious American vessels, and cantioning him to have precautions taken for the safety of life and property in the city. The Lieutenant Governor admitted receiving the letter, but declined to state its contents or the nature of the messures taken by the military and naval authorities. From contents of the letter were learned. Colonel Harke on Sanday communicated to officers the nformation, said to be from Sir John A. Macdonald, that two suspicious vessels manued, it is believe laby Fenians, and carrying a quantity of ornedoes and other dangerous explosives, sailed rom Boston a few days ago for Halifax. On arriving here it was asserted that the torpedoes with which the vessels were laden would be laid, as opportunity offered, beneath the water of the harbour, with the intention of blowing up shipping entering or leave. A line of torpedoes was to be stretched from Sombro up the harbour as close, to the city as possible, and when the time arrived all would be fired. Particular mention it was also recommended that the guards of the various barracks, powder magazines, dock yards and war ships be strengthened. It could not be learned whether the guards on the imperial proparty all over the city has been increased, but on Her Majesty's steamer Tenedos, in port, that had

The threatened Fenian invasion at Halifax did not create much excitement at the capital, as the reports from that place were considered very much exaggerated, but yesterday the feeling prevailed among members of Parliament that the affair has great significance. The members of the Government, of course, endeavour to laugh t off but the fact that the Secret Service Fund has been brought into requisition means that there is something of a serious character to provide a sinst. Sir John Macdonald is in daily communication with Sir Patrick McDongall commander of the British forces, who, it is said. has sent him some documentary evidence which confirms the r ported organization of a Fenian expedition, having for its object revenge.
